pable of precise proof or disproof.

"The Russian admiral can only make good his case by producing the vessel whose presence he alleges was among the trawlers," says the Westminster Gazette. This feeling that the British contention will be upheld pervades all classes and disposes, the public to caimly await the verdict.

"In 1896 the people were resolved that they had had enough of Democratic distress. The convention which met at St. Louis rested on two great policies exteemed essential to bring back prospective to the American people. It is resolved in favor of wiping the Democratic tariff law from the statute. It also voted to uphold the gold standard. resolved in favor of wiping the Democratic tariff law from the statute. It also voted to uphold the gold standard. Upon these great policies it nominated a candidate for president who possessed that it shall be comprised of five admirals—French, Russian and English, and two from smaller powers, possibly Denmark and Holland, to be named by their respective governments. Nothing yet, however, has definitely been decided. No American member has been suggested, though there might be an opening therefor in the proposal that one law jurist from a neutral power shall be included in the commission.
